

The ministry of communication and information society, Bucharest (Romania)

Historical building of Bucharest who is hosting The ministry of communication and information society. Two record sliding doors with breakout system replace the old existing doors. The doors design fits the building architecture.

The ministry of communication and information society, Bucharest (Romania)

